Neatness, legibility and ease in writing is to be secured. SEVENTH YEAR. The same general directions as in previous Grades as to neatness, position in writing, etc., in the use of both pen and pencil. Copy-book No. 6. GRAMMAR. FIFTH YEAR. Primary Grammar to the verb. Teachers should endeavor to give the instruction a practical turn, and so to illustrate by example that the pupils shall learn to distinguish words as parts of speech, by their relation to other words in the sentence, rather than by mere memory. From the first, too, they shall be taught to speak Correctly the language in daily use; no error in speech should be suffered to pass unnoticed or unconnected. From time to time lessons should be had with this in view. SIXTH YEA-. Note the instructions in previous Grade. Devote the first term to a thorough study of the verb, and complete the book, giving special attention to punctuation and capitals during the last term, requiring them to use the proper pronunciation marks, in the letters and essays they may have to write. Exercise your judgment as to what is most important in this course, and give most attention to that which most requires it. Not everything in the textbook is to be committed to memory; sometimes it would be better to have the text read and commented on. than to have it committed at all. They should be able to decide...
