Excerpt: . . . the statement in certain newspapers to be designated by themselves. By the law of 1889 it is made the duty of the collector to publish the statement in certain newspapers of the county designated by the governor and comptroller, in pursuance of the act of the legislature. The board of freeholders may cause the publication to be made in papers other than those designated by the governor and comptroller, but the county collector must publish in the papers so designated. The law is mandatory, and there is no necessary conflict between the general and special law. If these laws were in conflict, the general law of 1889 applies to all counties, and contains a general repealing clause, and therefore supersedes the special act. It would not be a general law unless it applies to all counties where financial. Williamson, 15 Vroom 165. An interpretation...
