To denote Small captials, a double line only is used. A single line under a word shows, that it is to be printed in italic. The various methods, adopted respecting the use of capitals, have been the means of giving to the compositor much vexation and trouble. Were authors to note with accuracy the words which they wish to be begun with a capital, or to allow the printer to exercise his own taste and judgment, not only a great loss of time would be saved to the workman, but the work itself would have a neater and more uniform appearance. So much of the happiness of private life depends on the government of the temper, that the temper ought to be a principal object of regard in a well-conducted education. The suffering of children to tyrannize, without control, over...
